VICE Magazine Animal Issue August 2005:

9 out of 10

"This is the ultimate Shoxton Eurotrash anthem: a scintillating exchange between two useless art fags trying to outdo each other with absurd statements, set to Nitzer Ebbish new beat.

Priceless lines include: "I caught syphilis once in Top Shop", "I organised a radical picnic with Kathleen Hanna", "Ethiopians are like Germans dipped in chocolate", "My uncle designed the anal staircase", and the classic "I was cremated once". You're so speaking my language, boyz."
